John May of East St. Louis, Rescues Boy From What Seems Impending Death.

BOTH BORNE UPON FENDER

Each Escapes Without Injury, and Crowd Applauds When They Are Helped From Street.

From a crowd of several hundred John May, an East St. Louis saloonkeeper, jumped in front of a moving street car at Broadway and Main street, East St. Louis, and saved Chaule Eutler, 3 years old, from being ground to death beneath the wheels of the car.

Both were riched on the characteristics of the car.

and saved Claude Butler, 3 years old, from being ground to death beneath the wheels of the car.

Both were picked up by the fender and carried several yards. May was scratched and bruised, but the child was uninjured and did not even cry.

Claude is the 3-year-old son of Mr. and hirs. C. F. Butler of No. 65 Piggott avenue. East St. Louis. He had been taken out for an airing yesterdiny afternoon by his sister. Maude, 15 years old. They had alighted from a Landdowne car and were crossing the street to wait for a Main street ear, when the girl, who was carrying the little fellow, stepped in front of Broadway car No. 35, which was moving east. She slipped at the same time and dropped her little brother.

The little fellow stood still in the middle of the track. Motorman R. C. Settle clanged his bell, put on his brakes and reversed his power, but to no avail, although sheets of flame sprung out from the wheels and the motors.

The street was lined on both sides by bundreds of persons who were waiting for the respective street cars.

John May had taken in the situation at a glance while talking with some friends on the corner. With a few bounds he reached the car track, and, as he selzed the child, he was struck by the fender. He was caught in the net of steel, and fell on his lack and side. He held the toy tightly to his breast, until the car was stopped, a few yards heyond, when he was frightened almost into hysterics.

Several women, who witressed what to hem seemed an impending fatality, had Several women, who witnessed what to been seemed an impending fatality, had tainted, and were restored at a near-by oring store. May was assisted to a neigh-boring saloon, where he received an ova-tion from the men who had witnessed his wet. He was unbart, save for a few bruises and scratches.

The President is devoting considerable time each day now to work on his annual message to Congress. For some time he has been assembling data for the message, but since the adjournment of the feats into definite form. The message will not be completed until some time early in November, because each member of the judical will have to supply material for abscussion of the work of his department. This information will be contained in the annual reports of the Cabinet officers, which have not been completed.

Much of the material for the discussion of the important subjects to come up before Congress President Roosevelt now has in hand, and the last days of his stay at Sagamore Hill are being devoted to the preparation of that part of his message which will deal with them. Few visitors have been received since the adjournment of the Prace Conference, the President desiring to be as free as possible from interruption while working on his message. FRANCE ASKS VENEZUELA TO RECONSIDER LAST NOTE.

Itimatum in Cable Matter Sat Satinfactory to Paris Government— America Examines Affairs.

Caracas, Venezuela, Sept. 21.—The French Government has asked the Venezuelan Government to reconsider its last note.

The note referred to in the above dispatch was issued September 29 by the Venezuelan Government and was in reply to a protest lodged September 19 by M. Taigny, the French Charge d'Affaires, against the closing of the land stations of the French Cable Company and the expusion of the manager of the company, M. Brun. It said: M. Brun. It said;

M. Brun. It said:

"The Government holds documents proving that the French Cable Company has accepted the result of the judicial proceeding brought against it.

"The Government is only waiting to establish the relations between it and the company. M. Taiguy knows this, and, therefore, the protest can only be considered an act of personal hostility.

"For this reason the Government will abstain from treating with the French Government through M. Taiguy."

Judge Calhoun conferred for two hours to-day with M. Talgny.

Unicum Did Not Violate the Law. as Fire Made It Necessary.

Although the Unicum saloon was open at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, although liquids flowed freely in the establishment with the proprietor looking on, and in spite of the fact that the place was brilliantly illuminated, while many persons flocked into the place, there was no violation of the Sunday law.

The reason for this is that the liquids which flowed so freely were water and chemicals, that those who rushed into the establishment were firemen and policemen, and that the lights were turned up by the proprietor, who was several blocks away when a blaze started in the celiar, so that the firemen could have more light at their work.

The flames started in the box live eller.

Together, they walked all around the premises, but beyond a slight odor of burning they could discover no trace of fire, neither could they find the location of the fire until 2 o'clock.

A still alarm brought Engine Company No. 6 and Salvage Corps No. 1 to the scene in a great hurry. A hose was quickly run into the basement, where it was found necessary to chop a small hole into the alley, where sawdust had been packed, to deaden the noise of the balls. It was here that the flames had started.

OPEN YESTERDAY. LARGEST ATTENDANCE SINCE FAIR MARKS RECEPTION AT NEW MUSEUM

Vast Crowd Visits Forest Park and Fair Grounds and Overflows Museum Building, Where Doctor WJ McGee Was Being Honored-President Stewart of Police Board Introduces Head of the New Institution and Talks on the Merits of Such an Establishment.

With President A. C. Stewart of the Police Board delivering the opening address and with Doctor WJ McGee responding, the head of the new St. Louis Public Museum, received an enthusiastic greating in a reception tendered to him at the museum building in Forest Park yesterday.

In spite of the heat of the day, nearly 26,000 persons climbed the hill to the structive, overflowed the hall and assured the local attendance since the millions. museum building in Forest Park yester-day.

In spite of the heat of the day, nearly 20,000 persons climbed the hill to the structive, overflowed the hall and assembled outside to discuss the institution. It was the largest attendance since the close of the Exposition.

President Stewart delivered a short address, reviewing briefly the fashion in which Bt. Louis had more than held its own in development, as compared with other cities, even with those having sites near deep water.

He said that a museum was a blessing

He said that a museum was a blessing and a public educator. The work done al-ready, he declared, showed what the fu-ture would bring forth in giving to St. Louis a display, which would stand out among similar institutions as an ex-ample. ample.

At this point President Stewart introduced the director of the museum, Doctor WJ McGee, Mr. McGee, in his address, sketched the policy of the muselm and the benefits that could be derived from such an institution. In part, he said:

"The Board of Directors of the museum have conferred on me a great honor. It is also a great responsibility, but I hope to make the museum a credit to the city, the State and the country. But I cannot do it alone. do it aione.

"The museum will be educational and instructive. The public museum idea has instructive. The public museum idea has come out in the last thirty years. In the course of the next twenty years, public knowledge will have doubled again. The keynote of modern education is that which men do, how to do, what to do and why it is done. This is an institution that benefits all and injures none. The policy of the museum will be the directing of have to be raised by public subscription,

PLEDGES ALL ENERGIES.

"What we want," said President Stewart. "Is a proper home for the museum. After we have that, the exhibits will come fast chough. Doctor McGee will have a supendous task, but it will not be in labeling and collecting exhibits. We must have a location in the downtown portion of the city, where all the people can watch it all the time. A museum is good on every day of the week. Turning to the Board of Directors, which sat on the piatform. Doctor McGee guid he was willing and ready to take the responsibility and would do all in his power to promote the interests of the museum. "Let us put our shoulders to the wheel." he said, in conclusion, "and help push the museum forward to a success, for the honor of the city and glory of the State." President Stewart made another short address, in which he urged upon all present to assist in the getting of the museum a proper home.

"What we want," said President Stewart, "is a proper home for the museum.

and we cannot depend on the membership alone."

James A. Reardon, chairman of the Membership Committee, made a brief address. In part, he said:

"St. Louis is the only city of importance in the United States that has not a public museum. We have the foundation, however, that no other city ever had. The aid of the public is necessary in order that the project may be successfully carried through. At the present time Paul Oeker, our European representative, is making collections throughout Europe and expects to get a large number of exhibits from the Liege Beigium Exhibition. In order to do credit to these exhibits we must have a proper museum."

The officers and directors of the museum who were present were: President, A. C. Stewart, Judge E. B. Adams, J. J. Schultz, O. L. Telchmann, Judge John H. Terry, George T. Parker, James A. Reardon, L. D. Kingsland and J. J. Cochrane.
